ROTARY CLUB IS INSTITUTED HERE

Organization Effected Monday Night
With Election of Officers and Directors.

L. C. GRIFFITHS PRESIDENT

John Napier Dryer, District Governor, and Other Prominent Members Attend Session.

The Seymour Rotary club was instituted here Monday night with twenty-two charter members by John Napier Dryer, of Vincennes, district governor. About fifty Rotarians from clubs in Bloomington, Indianapolis, New Albany and other cities in this part of the state were in attendance. Before the organization meeting was held a banquet was served at the dining room of the Central Christian church by the ladies of the congregation. The Rotarians acknowledged appreciation of the banquet and the splendid service.

Following the institutional ceremony the organization was turned over to the local members and the following permanent officers were elected:

President—L. C. Griffiths.
Vice-president—W. C. Young.
Secretary—W. L. Federmann.
Treasurer—W. L. Clark.

The officers are members of the board of directors and the other members are: T. S. Blish, W. L. Johnson, C. H. Wiethoff, C. D. Billings and John E. Kieffer. L. C. Gifford was named sergeant at arms.

During the institutional ceremony Fred Williams, of New Albany, who was interested in the organization of the local club presided. Addresses were made by District Governor Dryer, Vincennes; Dick Miller, Indianapolis; the Rev. William Burrows and Dr. J. E. P. Holland, of Bloomington; James S. Dunbar, congressman-elect Third district, Fred Williams and John W. Gaither, of New Albany. Local members who gave toasts were: T. S. Blish, W. L. Johnson, J. H. More and Albert H. Ahlbrand.

The district governor in his address explained the Rotarian idea. He said that some years ago a number of "home sick" business men in Chicago decided to meet each week and the session rotated to the various offices of the group. This idea was extended until the idea of the Rotarians today is to "encircle the globe." He spoke of the work that can be done by the club in this community and the good results which will follow its activity.

The purposes of the Rotary Club briefly are:

To promote the recognition of the worthiness of all legitimate occupations and to dignify the occupation of each member affording him an opportunity to do so.

Indianapolis, May 13—Additional reports to state Victory loan headquarters today carried the total subscriptions to date forward $204,000 more to a grand total of $84,760,000. This total is not complete as some of the counties have not finished the tabulations, but it shows an oversubscription of $3,196,100 above the quota of $81,625,000 for the sixty-eight Indiana counties in the Seventh district. The twenty-four southern Indiana counties in the Eighth district subscribed $14,399,550 an oversubscription of approximately $1,000,000, according to incomplete returns today. This brings Indiana's total to date to $99,070,150.

Field Work is Practically Completed

Their Reports.

RETURNS ARE DUE JUNE 1

Speculation Arises As to Total Valuation Under The New System of Appraising.

The actual work of assessing property must be completed Thursday, and while none of the township assessors has filed their returns with the county assessor, it is understood that the field work has been practically finished. The assessors in this township completed their work about a week ago and since that time Ed Himebaugh, assessor, has been preparing the records which will be turned over to the county assessors for presentation before the board of review.

Some of the assessors will be unable to close up their book work before Thursday and while they will work several days after that time they will not receive additional compensation. The records must be filed with the county assessor by June 1. The dates for completing the field work and for filing the books and records with the county official are fixed in the new tax law. In a few instances the township assessors may be unable to entirely complete their permanent files by June 1, but they are required to have the

FRANKLIN CASE GOES TO JURY LATE THIS AFTERNOON

Believed that Outcome Will Also Decide Disposition of Other Cases Against Defendant.

The case of Frank Franklin, of this city, charged with violating the liquor laws was given to the jury at 3:30 this afternoon. The greater part of the day was consumed by the trial. Several witnesses were called to testify in the case. Prosecutor Lowe represented the state and S. A. Barnes was the attorney for the defendant.

Franklin was indicted by the last grand jury and three other similar charges are pending against him in circuit court. The outcome of the trial today, it is expected, will have some bearing as to the disposition of the other cases against the defendant which have been set down for trial at different dates during the May term.

QUARREL ENDED BY TWO DEATHS

Jacob Taylor, Age 70, Kills Sister-in-Law, Mrs. Annie Robbins, Then Shoots Himself.

RESIDENTS OF SCOTT COUNTY

Argument Over Ownership of Picture Cause of Sad Affair—Funerals Friday.

The Sunnyside neighborhood in Scott county was given cause for considerable excitement about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon when it became known that Jacob Taylor, aged 70 years, had shot and killed his sister-in-law, Mrs. Annie Robbins, age 65 years, after which he shot himself. Mrs. Robbins died instantly and Taylor lived only a few minutes after shooting himself.

According to information received here concerning the sad affair the shooting resulted from a quarrel between Mrs. Robbins and her sister, Mrs. Taylor over the ownership of a picture that was hanging on the wall at the Taylor home. It is said that the aged man told the women to stop the quarrel which resulted in Mrs. Robbins attempting to take the picture from the wall when Mr. Robbins picked up a rifle and shot her. The aged man then left the house and went to the barn where he turned the rifle on himself taking his own life. Both parties had been residents of the Scott county neighborhood for a

COLUMBUS FIGHTING TO KEEP STREET CAR SERVICE

Hearing Today Before Indiana Public Service Commission Attended by Many Citizens.

To abandon or not to abandon the Maple Grove street car line in the city of Columbus is being argued before the Public Service Commission in that city today. The question is considered one of vital importance by the residents of Columbus and a hard fight will be made to prevent the discontinuation. Residents of the Maple Grove addition are making every effort to keep the car service in operation and it is said that the majority of residents of the city are supporting them.

In an appeal to the citizens to take part in the effort to keep the Maple Grove line in operation Mayor Frank Jones, points out that every resident of Columbus would be more or less injured by the discontinuance of the street car service. The action of the Public Service commission is being awaited with much interest.

INTERSTATE CO. BUYS I. & L. LINE

Rumored that Interurban Between Seymour and Sellersburg Has Changed Ownership.

NOT OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED

Believed that Little Change will be Made in Operation as a Result of Deal.

That very little change will be made in the operation of the interurban service between this city and Louisville as a result of the change in ownership of the line between Seymour and Sellersburg, is the opinion of local employees acquainted with the situation. Although it has not as yet been officially announced it is rumored that a deal has been closed whereby the Interstate Public Service Company which operates the interurban between this city and Indianapolis has purchased the line between this city and Sellersburg from the Indianapolis & Louisville Railway Traction Company which is owned by the Colonial Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Providing the deal has been made the Interstate Public Service Company owns the entire line between Indianapolis and Louisville with the exception of the bridge across the Ohio river. As a consequence of the purchase which is believed to have been made it is predicted that the service will be considerably improved.

It is understood that the general offices that have been maintained by the Indianapolis & Louisville Traction Company at Scottsburg will be discontinued. However, the power plant at that place will be enlarged. It is said the general offices may be located here.

When the change in ownership will become effective is not known as no information concerning the deal has been received by the local employees of the traction company but it is believed that providing it has gone through the Interstate will take over the line about June 1.

County or City Cannot Create Indebtedness Without Sanction of Tax Commissioners.

LETTER TO THE OFFICIALS

Board Also Assumes Authority to Fix State Tax Rates for the Years of 1919 and 1920.

Officials of Jackson county and of the city of Seymour have received copies of a circular letter issued by the state board of tax commissioners, advising them that no indebtedness can be created by any taxing unit in this state without the approval of the state tax board. It is understood that the ruling applies to road bonds as well as to other forms of indebtedness and is contrary to a recent ruling of the attorney-general who held that the law did not apply to bonds issued under the three-mile road law.

The letter is one of the most important issued by the board for some time. It reads:

"We would call your special attention to Sections 201 and 202 of the new tax law. Under these sections all indebtedness must be approved by this board before contracted. We are charged with this

SLACK INVESTIGATES MUNCIE CONDITIONS

District Attorney Says There Will Be No More Immediate Arrests There.

By United Press

Indianapolis, May 13—Refusing to state whether or not he had come to the conclusion that officials of Muncie are involved in the fake fight swindle or that they might have been involved in other offenses against federal statutes, L. Ert Slack, United States district attorney, upon his return from an investigating trip from Muncie said:

"There are not going to be any more immediate arrests at Muncie as a result of my investigation, but there will be a great deal of matter presented to the federal grand jury. I think you can depend upon the citizens of Muncie to put the 'see' in 'Muncie and recover from the blindness which has gripped them for the last two or three years.'"

Slack spent Sunday and Monday in Muncie. It is understood he interviewed prominent citizens relative to moral conditions and the big fake fight swindle case.

FIFTH REQUEST IS FILED BY GERMANY

Enemy's Demand for Admission to League of Nations Handed to French Delegates.

ORLANDO AND HOUSE CONFERENCE

General Belief is That Germany Will Sign Terms When Initial Shock of Severity Has Passed.

By United Press

Paris, May 13—With action on their two latest communications still pending, the German delegates were preparing a fifth note on the peace terms today. It was expected to be presented to the French foreign office before tonight. Germany's first two notes questioning justice of the terms and demanding immediately admission to the league of nations were answered promptly by the allies asserting the allies' right to enforce the conditions as drafted and referred the Germans to the league's regulations for membership. The second communication sought a change in the international labor rules and demanded release of German war prisoners immediately after the treaty is signed. These were referred to a committee of experts which will report back to the "big four."

Premier Orlando resumed his conferences with Col. House today and it was learned from a reliable source that they discussed disposition of Fiume.

Belief that Germany will ultimately sign the treaty continued to grow today in the face of increasing threats by enemy officials. This confidence was strengthened by a report of an allied official who just arrived from Berlin. He said that while there is intense excitement in Ger-

SCHIEDEMANN SAYS TERMS ARE NOT ACCEPTABLE

German Chancellor Declares Nation Ceases to Exist Abroad Under Provisions.

By United Press

Berlin, May 13—"This peace is not acceptable," Chancellor Scheidemann declared today in a speech before the national assembly.

With the utterance the audience arose to its feet and cheered enthusiastically for several minutes. "We are willing to sign a peace but only a peace we can fulfill—one that will leave us to work off and pay what is just," said the chancellor. "We will not fight. We want peace. We see with a shudder, what militarism leads to from the example set by the entente."

"We want to save the life of the country and the people. We are unable to compare the peace terms with Wilson's program. The world is shorn of illusion and Wilson's picture as a bringer of peace has faded."

"According to the terms, Germany has ceased to exist abroad. Who, as an honest man is able to sign the treaty as it now stands? None! We want to negotiate, but millions in all countries already are crying aloud their murder plan. If this treaty is signed not only will Germany's cadaver be lying on the battle fields of Versailles, but it will also be joined by that of the independence of free nations and their faith in the ideals of the entente."

Scheidemann was applauded throughout except by the radicals.

Hartford City, Ind., May 13—The proverbial "lid" will fall on Hartford City with a crash next Sunday. All business houses, everything except churches and the city water works, has been ordered closed. Among the places to close are drug stores, candy kitchens, restaurants, garages, news stands, soft drink parlors, livery stables and cigar stores. FRANKNESS PAYS BEST.

A general campaign of agitation for refusal to sign the peace treaty is apparent throughout Germany. What the German government officials think they can gain by such tactics is not known, but only ruin for Germany can result. The peace terms are not severe when compared to the destruction and wrongs of which Germany was guilty. The allies can enforce any kind of peace terms they may decide upon. While the German press is howling over the severity of the terms, Maximilian Harden, editor of the Berlin Die Zukunft, sees the new dangers in such a policy.

He condemns the tactics that have been adopted and calls upon the people for a policy of frankness and fairness. What he has to say is interesting in view of the opposing expressions about him.

Harden's article in part reads: "The peace conditions are not harder than I expected. They were unpleasant to the greater part of the people but could one really have expected them otherwise

"The Germans have not given convincing guarantees during the six months since the revolution that they have changed their system; on the contrary, the present government and the press have used the same methods of incitement, the same tricks of bluff as under the old rule of the petty nobility.

"The government's proclamations and edits are only bad copies of the kaiser's time. The whole press resounds in the protests and has started a campaign of incitement against the allies couched in violent language. It is agitating for refusal to sign the treaty, and to what use? All must know that the allies, by keeping up the blockade and occupying the coal districts, can force Germany to sign whatever they want.

"The allies have been threatened that Germany would join the Bolsheviks. But that would be suicidal. The only way to rescue the country is by openness and honesty. The revolution has been a great disappointment.

"Germany should have sent men who would have laid their cards on the table and got the allies to understand that some of the conditions were unacceptable. If Germany showed its good will to do what is in its power to comply with the allies' requests, the allies would see that conditions were changed in favor of Germany, because they know there must be a Germany and that it is impossible to destroy the German people."

J. M. KIMMEL TO TAKE CHARGE OF COOPERATIVE BUREAU

Lafayette Man Will Have Charge of State Co-Operation With Counties.

Indianapolis, May 13.—H. K. Bishop, chief engineer of the State highway commission, has appointed J. M. Kimmel of Lafayette to take charge of the bureau for co-operation with counties in constructing roads under the county unit and three-mile gravel road laws. Mr. Kimmel began his work with the commission yesterday.

Mr. Bishop said he wishes it understood that the plan of this bureau is to extend assistance to the counties that desire the state commission to co-operate with them in road construction. Under the provisions of the new state highway law the commission may be called upon by any county for this assistance. When such petitions for assistance are filed with the state commission all the information at the disposal of the state body will be given the county in order that it may prepare standard plans and specifications. The commission will also provide inspectors when requested and will charge the county only the actual cost of such work.

"It is the desire of the commission to help wherever it can," Mr. Bishop said. "We do not want the local authorities to feel that there is any desire on our part to interfere with their work, but on the contrary we want them to understand that we are ready and willing to work together with them just as the state commission co-operates with the Federal government."

Mr. Kimmel will have charge of the bureau temporarily.

L. H. Wright, director of the commission, and Mr. Bishop will inspect a portion of the Lincoln highway in Elkhart County today. A surveying party from the state commission will start work on parts of the road in that county which have not previously been surveyed. Another surveying crew departed yesterday to start work on the National road between Brazil and Indianapolis.

ONLY A LITTLE KEY

But It Made Much Trouble for New York Jeweler.

He Had Two Nights and One Day of Great Discomfort Chalked Up to the "Depravity of Inanimate Things."

"It is the little things in life that cause most of the trouble."

This wise saying of the ancient philosopher was strikingly illustrated a few nights ago in New York city when the proprietor of a jewelry store in closing up for the night broke a key in the lock of the street door.

Here are some of the things that happened then: The shopkeeper tried in every possible way to lock the door or get the broken key out. His efforts were fruitless. All the help had gone home and he had no one to send for a locksmith. He couldn't leave the store alone. He was so excited that for a long time he couldn't think of anything to do. Finally he went to the telephone and called up his home. His wife answered and he stammeringly asked her to come down at once. She couldn't make out what the trouble was, but caught "key," "lock" and "door," and suspecting a burglary she flung on her street clothes any old way and hastened downtown, half distracted.

In the meantime the husband began to telephone for a locksmith. A succession of "won't answers" from the telephone girl was all the satisfaction he got. When his wife arrived he left her in the store while he went out to try his luck. He tramped around for an hour or more, but was as unsuccessful as he had been on the telephone.

When he got back he telephoned to police headquarters and two policemen were sent to the store. He insisted that they remain outside to watch the place. He suggested to his wife that they go home, but she refused. She wouldn't think of leaving the place, even with the policemen outside. So the jeweler was forced to remain with her. About three o'clock in the morning he went out to an all-night lunch room and brought back some food. He waited eagerly for morning to come, when he would be able to get a locksmith. But he had forgotten that it was Sunday, and when he started out again on his quest it was only to meet with another disappointment. Despite all his efforts he couldn't connect with a locksmith.

He and his wife passed Sunday in the store, taking turns napping. The policemen on guard outside were relieved, but there was no relief for the jeweler from his weary vigil. He never welcomed a Monday morning more than he did the one that followed when assistants appeared and he and his wife were able to go home with the assurance that a locksmith would soon be around.

COLONEL PACKED FOOD TO MEN

Soldier Lauds the Bravery of Leader of Chicago
Regiment.

WENT FORWARD UNDER FIRE

It Was at Chipilly Ridge, and Men
Had Nothing to Eat for Couple of Days—Colonel Wanted to Be Sure They Got It.

New York.—That Col. Joseph B. Sanborn, commander of Chicago's old First Illinois National Guard regiment, personally carried food to his men through terrific fire in that engagement at Chipilly ridge in August, when Chicago's noted regiment was shot to pieces, was the story told by Sergt. C. William Keane of Chicago, who recently arrived here on board a transport from France.

Keane, who was a student at Notre Dame university until Villa cut loose in Mexico, has several heroic feats to his own credit, but he attributes his bravery to Colonel Sanborn's inspiring leadership. Keane had the Military cross pinned on his breast by King George on the same day that General Pershing was made a Knight of the Bath. He also wears the American D. S. C. Keane has lost his right leg.

Tells of Sanborn's Bravery.

His story was told by a buddy of his in the One Hundred and Thirty-first infantry, but young Keane interrupted with:

"Say, if you were fighting under a man like Colonel Sanborn, our commander, you couldn't help pitching in with every drop of blood in your body. Do you know what Colonel Sanborn did at Chipilly ridge in August, when our outfit was so badly shot up? We were up there with nothing to eat or drink for a couple of days until Colonel Sanborn personally brought rations to us on his back under the most terrific fire that I ever experienced."

"He did that because he wanted to be sure that the food would reach us and he figured the best way to make sure was to carry it himself. Who wouldn't fight like the devil under a commander like that?"

Keane went to the Mexican border with the First and re-enlisted later for overseas service. He was decorated by King George for his work at Hamet on July 4 when the One Hundred and Thirty-first was brigaded with Austrians.

Keane Rescues Wounded.

Keane had charge of directing the work of stretcher bearers. Party after party of them went into No Man's Land that day and failed to return. Keane went out to find them. He found them dead, lying across the stretchers with the wounded men. They had been killed in their work of mercy by the Germans. At that moment a party of Germans made a sortie to capture Keane, but it ended in his killing several of them, forcing the others to surrender and to carry the wounded men and the stretcher bearers they had killed back to the allied lines.

He won the American Distinguished cross in the Argonne on October 10, when he stood in No Man's Land directing the work of rescue till an explosive bullet shattered his leg.

SPOILED BIG WEDDING FEAST

How Ex-German Emperor Upset Dinner on Which Herr Ballin Had Spent Much Money.

Herr Ballin was noted for the extravagant dinners which he gave on great occasions, says the Edinburgh Scotsman. Probably the most magnificent of all was that which he arranged to grace the wedding of the kaiser's daughter to the duke of Brunswick. The floral decorations alone cost $10,000, the dinner worked out at about $85 a plate, and the wines at about $30. But the dinner, from Herr Ballin's point of view, was a failure, for the kaiser and kaiserin, who were to have been present, sent word in the afternoon that they could not come; and it was in their honor, of course, that Herr Ballin had spent his thousands on the banquet. One of his servants has said that when Herr Ballin received the message that the emperor could not come, he flew into a tremendous rage. He sent for his butler, and ere the man had reached Herr Ballin's study, his master shouted out to him: "The emperor cannot come to dinner tonight—put the whole show off!" and then slammed the door. The butler did not know exactly what to do. To put off so important guests as were to be present was, of course, an impossibility; but no one in the household dared to approach the master of it to suggest this. However, at about 5 o'clock Herr Ballin had sufficiently recovered his temper to come downstairs and give some necessary directions about the banquet.

MULE OF PECULIAR COLOR

Driver Explained With Patience Just How the Animal's Strange Appearance Was Brought About.

Two mules, drawing an army service wagon, caused a sensation in Knightsbridge a short time ago. One mule was poor but honest in appearance, brown in color; the other was a delicate shade of green. The green mule was solemly unconscious of the attention he was attracting. "Effects of war oats?" asked a facetious United States soldier. A workman rubbed his eyes and then muttered, "camouflage." The A. S. C. driver looked thoroughly ashamed of the turnout. He stopped to pick up a crate. "What is the matter with your pony?" asked a mild man. "I am tired of being asked it, and it isn't a pony," replied the driver. "It is all through the chemical. Goodness knows what color it will be tomorrow. Its coat was very light once, and the other mules used to kick it. We washed it in some chemical dye to make it darker. The sergeant can't remember the name of the dye, and now that it is wearing off, it is a different color each day. You are the last person I shall explain it to." He drove off furiously—a khaki driver on a slate-gray lorry drawn by one honest brown mule and one shameless mule of an esthetic shade of green.—London Mail.

Attire.

"Is your boy Josh particular about his clothes?"

"I should say he is," answered Farmer Cornstossel. "Since he put off his uniform he'd rather wear overalls than one of them high-waisted overcoats."

The Worse the Better.

NOT ABOVE CARRYING BUNDLE

Spirit Shown by New York Man May Explain Why He Has Become a Millionaire.

The following story, which suggests that some millionaires are no more "stuck up" than the rest of us, is printed in Forbes Magazine: A Broadway (New York city) street car conductor was about to forbid a man carrying a huge roll of carpet to enter his car—the bundle was so huge that the conductor feared it would block the aisle. The bearer of the burden, however, smiled at him so amiably and deposited his long parcel promptly at the far corner of the platform that the conductor hadn't the heart to remonstrate. This was at Thirty-third street, opposite a department store. At Forty-second street the passenger shouldered his bundle and walked off. He carried it to one of New York's newest skyscrapers and immediately proceeded to lay it upon the floor of one of the reception rooms there.

He was the owner of the skyscraper! He was Irving T. Bush, millionaire creator of the famous Bush terminal, a veritable city within the city of Brooklyn, owner of a large shipyard and of other projects.

To friends who chaffed him, Mr. Bush explained that the rug caught his fancy while in the store, and he particularly wished to have it laid down before a reception that was to be held at the Buyers' club (in the Bush building) that day. But as the store could not make immediate delivery, why, the only and the natural thing for him to do was to shoulder it himself. The spectacle of a millionaire lugging along such a burden in a street car and in the street did not strike this particular millionaire as in any way funny.

Peat in Manitoba.

The Canadian department of mines has recently investigated 18 peat bogs in Manitoba and in a report on the supply of this fuel available in that province states that there are bogs in the Winnipeg river district containing 1,800,000 tons of peat fuel, 25 per cent moisture.

HAPPY IN POVERTY

Former Theatrical Star Ends Restless Search.

Kaleidoscopic Career of May Yohe, Once Pettled Favorite of Two Continents, Bids Fair to Have Unconventional Ending.

Searching for happiness, conventionally and unconventionally, along the gilt edges of the world, Madcap May Yohe, once darling of royalty, has found it at last as the wife of a workman amid humble surroundings, herself a janitress. She has found it in work, in service and in self-effacement.

It is as Mrs. John Smuts that the tempestuous theatrical star of yesterday has added a bright chapter to the life that led the American girl to an English peerage at eighteen, into troublesome days of escapade, through heartbreaking years and decline of fame, into marriage again and adventures in far lands. All in the restless search for love.

At the end of her kaleidoscopic career she is now in Seattle, knowing poverty and the meaning of toil, and she says she's found what she's hunted for a lifetime in the man who loves her and is good to her.

Twenty years ago May Yohe had the theatrical world at her feet. She became Lady Francis Hope, mistress of the great blue Hope diamond, jewel of ill omen. As such she was the petted favorite of aristocracy and of King Edward VII.

Then she listened to the blandishments of Capt. Putnam Bradlee Strong, son of the then mayor of New York, and seeking happiness unconventionally went away with him. The adventure brought only sorrow and disappointment.

Striving to regain her lost glory, she stood again before a London audience in 1913, and London forgave her and took her back into its heart with a roaring welcome as in the older days of song and dance and youthful allurements.

Having accomplished that she became the bride of Capt. John Smuts, cousin of Gen. Jan Smuts of Boer war fame, and himself an officer in that war. She quit the stage and accompanied him to South Africa, to Singapore, to India, China and Japan.

Coming to America a year or so ago, in the hope that he would get a commission in the British army, Captain Smuts went to work in a Seattle shipyard when his application was turned down and ready funds were not available.

It was there he developed influenza and the woman who had once swayed the footlight world went to work as janitress to earn their daily bread. As worker and nurse she battled desperately for his life—and won.

"Won the greatest happiness I have ever known," she said, "as well as the life of my dear husband."

When Captain Smuts resumed work in the shipyards after his illness he "banished" May Yohe to keeping house in their one-room apartment, where they are living today.

Their financial straits were explained by Mrs. Smuts as due to red tape that prevented access to estate moneys, and to the fact that Captain Smuts, a judge and barrister in South Africa, knew no one in America.

"When Jack became ill they asked me jokingly at the shipyards if I wanted a job. I accepted it seriously. The only place open was for a janitress, and I took it."

"Things are brighter now. I still have my Jack, we're going to get some money soon, and if we don't go to England we'll start a little chicken ranch near the city here. Meantime, what more could one wish for?"

The Day Came at Last.

Special permission to accompany the French armies into Strassburg was asked by Captain Danner, grandson of Baron Pron, prefect of Strassburg during the war of 1870. At the time of the old city's bombardment the cathedral belfry was struck, and from the debris the prefect secured a piece of granite, and instructed his children that whenever the day of liberation came they should take the stone back and present it to the authorities of the town. Carefully kept during the 48 years, it was to be returned to Strassburg by Captain Danner on the very day of the entry of the French troops.—Christian Science Monitor.

How U-Boats Were Trapped.

One of the novel devices adopted by the British for the co-ordination of the efforts of trawlers and submarines has just been divulged. A trawler would drag a submarine by a cable and maintain communication with it by telephone. When the trawler sighted a German U-boat the British submarine would slip its cable and attack the German boat before the surprised Germans could submerge or prepare to give fight.

Kills Big Eagle.

Independence, Mo.—A bald eagle, three feet from the beak to the tip of his tail and weighing nine and one-half pounds, was killed by a farm laborer near here. The bird measured seven feet from tip to tip of the wings and has been mounted by a taxidermist.

Elmer Hall, of Bloomington, was among the Rotarians from that place to attend the Rotary Club Banquet in this city Monday evening.

Women as Secretaries.

Since Mr. Lloyd George made the innovation of appointing a woman secretary, the example of the prime minister has been followed by some of his colleagues in the cabinet. One of the three private secretaries to Mr. Bonar Law, the chancellor of the exchequer, having left recently to become deputy chairman of the board of inland revenue, the chancellor has decided to economize man power and at the same time give formal recognition of women's growing efficiency by making Miss E. M. Watson one of his private secretaries. These appointments of women civil servants to confidential posts in the entourage of the members of the British cabinet are highly popular among women workers generally who appreciate the honor thus done to their sex.

Yellow Fever Mastered.

Reports from Ecuador indicate that Doctor Noguchi, the famous Japanese scientist, who is at present in that country, has isolated the bacillus which causes yellow fever, and has prepared an anti-serum conferring immunity on those exposed to the disease. The discovery is being tried out on Ecuadorian troops in the fever interior.

The conquest of yellow fever is one of the important achievements. In the Canal zone the first steps were taken; the fever was banished by sanitation. But proper sanitation is an extensive process and is impracticable in sparsely settled regions. So Doctor Noguchi's discovery comes to give a needful coup de grace to the old villain, yellow fever.

Rev. T. C. Smith, of Wolcott, came Monday evening to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jay C. Smith and family, 216 North Walnut street for two or three days.

LOCAL DEALERS ADVISED TO CHARGE LUXURY TAX

Question is Raised as to Whether or Not a Corset is a Luxury or Necessity.

Is a corset an undergarment?

Local retail dealers who cater to women, have been advised to collect the new luxury tax on corsets costing more than $5 until it can be determined whether the article is a luxury or a necessity. However, the policy of paying the tax for their customers has been adopted locally.

In the new tax law which became effective May 1, undergarments are exempt from taxation and the question has arisen whether the corset should be classed as an undergarment and a necessity. The National Dry Goods Association has asked for a ruling on the question and in the meantime the tax due is ten percent on all sums in excess of $5 paid for the article or in other words if "it" costs $6 a tax of ten cents will be collected on the additional dollar over five dollars.

HAD GLIMPSE INTO FUTURE

Man in Seventeenth Century Saw Wondrous Possibilities in the Development of the World.

One hundred and four years ago, at this season, the war of 1812 was practically over. Peace was signed, at Ghent, on the evening of December 24, 1814; and then things moved fast, according to existing standards. On December 26, one of the American secretaries left Ghent for London, and on January 2, 1815, he left England for New York, where he arrived some time in February, and his news was immediately delivered to the citizens by printed handbills. Other cities, however, had to remain in ignorance during the time it would take a fast rider to urge his galloping horse over the roads between them and New York. The telegraph was not yet invented, although Joseph Glanvil, a seventeenth century preacher with an interest in the possibilities of invention, had told the Royal society that "to confer, at the distance of the Indies, by sympathetic conveyances, may be as usual to future times as to us in literary correspondence." Glanvil, by the way, also told the Royal society that "to those who come after us, it may be as ordinary to buy a pair of wings to fly into the remotest regions, as now a pair of boots to ride a journey."

Recalls Wasted Time.

"I happened to be late at a meeting the other day and somebody asked who Ann Brown was and I didn't say a word and I happened to think just then that somebody is always late to everything and that somebody is always early to everything. If I give a formal dinner party somebody always comes early when I'm in the dining room giving my final orders to the butler, and then again after everything is all ready I have to wait 15 minutes for a tardy guest and get real fussy but must not show it. I'll bet," says Ann, "that I've wasted thousands of hours of my young life being on time for engagements of all kinds."—Exchange.

Bees Move 150,000 Tons.

The honey crop of the United States for 1918 having been estimated by the department of agriculture at about 250,000,000 pounds, the American Botanist estimates that as the nectar of flowers does not become honey until worked over and partly evaporated, the bees must move as much as 150,000 tons of material to produce this crop, exclusive of the honey eaten by themselves. Of this product, about one-half is from the nectar of white clover, with two other leguminous plants—alfalfa and sweet clover—as the next important sources.

Race to the North Pole.

It seems that Captain Bartlett is not going to have things entirely his own way in his airplane expedition to the north pole, for at the present moment the British are also planning for a similar undertaking. So the airplane expedition may take on the complexion of a sportsmanlike race, with the Americans represented by Captain Bartlett and the British by Salisbury Jones of the British Northern Exploration company. Captain Bartlett contemplates going to the far north by way of north Greenland, while Mr. Jones is going by way of Spitzbergen; which, when reduced to mathematics, means that the Americans will have some two thousand miles to go while our British cousins will have only nine hundred miles of journey. Mr. Jones believes that his expedition can make the flight in about nine hours.—Scientific American.

One Language.

Ten per cent of America's adult population are unable to read the language of the country. Eighteen per cent of the "coming citizens" of the United States do not attend any school. One tenth of the first 2,000,000 men called to the colors could not read their orders or understand them. The figures are from Secretary Lane's recent report. There is room for only one set of ideals in this country and, except for newcomers, there is room for only one language. While the teaching of English is but one of many items in the Americanization program, it is an important one, as the figures of Secretary Lane proclaim.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Wireless and Morale.

Since the armistice brought hostilities to an end it has been learned that the morale of the population of Lille was maintained by news given from a French wireless station hidden from the Germans, according to Wireless Age. Good news spread quickly through underground channels. The people knew that ten thousand American soldiers were arriving daily. Airplanes also dropped many leaflets, which were eagerly taken despite German efforts to prevent their distribution.—Scientific American.

Too Many Eggs.

My neighbor and I had been striving for a long time to see who could produce the most eggs from a certain number of chickens. Each day when I met him at the office and told him how many eggs I got he invariably had two or three more than I. So one day I made up my mind to outdo him, and after putting several eggs that had been laid the day before into the nests, we went to a funeral and upon our return I invited him in to see my coop and chickens, and to my horror the hens had laid more eggs during my absence. He remarked: "You have more eggs than chickens." All I could say was that I didn't gather them yesterday.—Chicago Tribune.

responsibility and trust that you will co-operate in carrying it out. If bonds or other indebtedness should be issued without this approval, the question of their validity would be raised. If held invalid additional questions of payments of money might be involved.

"We would also as a matter of information, say that under the powers delegated to the state board of tax commissioners by this act, this board, in connection with the Governor shall, for the years 1919 and 1920, fix and regulate the state tax rates to meet the appropriated necessities of the state and will avoid a large return which might accrue under the increase of assessments. This is all for your information."

Section 201 referred to in the above letter provides that "any corporation desiring to issue any such bond or other evidence of indebtedness shall file its petition therefor in the office of the state board of tax commissioners setting forth the facts showing the necessity for such issue." The petitioner is required to give notice of the filing of such petition and a hearing date is designated. At the hearing before the commissioners the conditions are reviewed and if the purpose for which the bonds are to be issued is approved the board will give its sanction to the indebtedness. In case the issue is for at least $50,000 road improvement fund and the state board refuses to approve it, the petitioner may secure an election at which the question will be determined.

HOW'S YOUR BLOOD?

Pimples and Eruptions Mean Bad Blood

People who have impure or impoverished blood should be careful to take only a temperance remedy made of wild roots and barks such as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is and has been for nearly 50 years. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

The first day you start to take this reliable medicine, impure germs and accumulation begin to separate in the blood and are then expelled through the eliminative organs.

In place of the impurities, the arteries and veins gradually get fresh vitalized blood and the action of this good blood on the skin means that pimples, boils, carbuncles, eczema, rash, acne and all skin blemishes will disappear. Then you must remember that when the blood is right, the liver, stomach, bowels and kidneys become healthy, active and vigorous and you will have no more trouble with indigestion, backache, headache.

Get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to-day at any medicine dealers, in tablet or liquid form, or send 10c for trial package to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Grand Rapids, Wis.—"I am a great believer in Dr. Pierce's medicines. When in a delicate condition, I had eczema very bad. I took 'Golden Medical Discovery' and it cured me and I have never had any trace of it since. When my baby was born he was broken out. I gave him the 'Discovery' and it cured him, also. I don't think my child would have lived only for this remedy. After the birth of baby I was miserable. I would have pains and headaches. I took medicines but got no relief. Finally, I began taking 'Favorite Prescription' and in the next month I was all right—felt fine, and have been well ever since. "I can recommend all Dr. Pierce's medicines for they did wonders for me and for my family."—Mrs. Anna Zeller, 548 10th Ave., North.

TWO NEGROES SUSPECTED OF KILLING DETECTIVES ON TRIAL

Alleged Slayers of Elmer Robbins, Greensburg, Held in Jail at Columbus.

By United Press
Greensburg, May 13—The killing of Elmer Robbins, Big Four railroad detective, by two booze runners at dawn on the morning of April 17 was recalled today when two negro suspects were brought up here for hearing.

Thomas Washington and John Hancock negroes, who, claimed Indianapolis as their home, are said to have confessed to the killing. According to detectives Washington admitted he shot Robbins as the latter came through a freight train at the edge of Greensburg in search of two men bringing whiskey into the state.

The negroes were brought here from Columbus for the hearing. They were taken to the Bartholomew county jail for safe keeping when local authorities feared the steadily rising mob spirit. The men were brought here from Indianapolis where they were arrested on the day of the murder. A revolver was found in the freight car in which they were riding and large quantities of whiskey were said to have been taken from the train.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Mr. Sprouse Continues to Be Perplexing, but Puta His Nose to the Ground.

Barnes was abroad early. He was at breakfast when Peter Ames called up. An inspiration seized him when the chauffeur mentioned the wholesale exodus; he hired Peter forthwith and ordered him to report immediately—with the car. He was going up to Green Fancy for Miss Cameron's wardrobe.

Two minutes after Peter drove up to the Tavern he was on the way back to Green Fancy again, and seated beside him was Thomas Kingsbury Barnes, his new master.

There was not a sign of human life about the place. Peter accompanied him upstairs to the room recently occupied by Miss Cameron.

They found two small leather trunks, thickly belabeled, in the room upstairs. Both were locked.

"You take this one," said Barnes, "and I will manage the other." He was in a hurry to get away from the house. There was no telling when the government agents would descend upon the place.

Barnes helped Peter to lift the trunks into the car and then ordered him to start at once for Hart's Tavern.

"You can return later on for your things," he said.

"I got 'em tied up in a bundle in the garage, Mr. Burns," he said. "Won't take a second to get 'em out." He hurried around the corner of the house.

A dry, quiet chuckle fell upon Barnes' ears. He glanced about in surprise and alarm. No one was in sight.

"Look up, young man," and the startled young man obeyed. His gaze halted at a window on the second story, almost directly over his head.

Mr. Sprouse was looking down upon him, his sharp features fixed in a sardonic grin.

"Well, I'll be d—!" burst from Barnes' lips.

"Surprised to see me, eh? If you're not in a hurry, I'd certainly appreciate a lift as far as the Tavern, old man."

"I'll be down in a jiffy. Stand aside! I'm going to drop." A moment later he swung over the sill, and dropped lightly to the ground eight feet below.

"See, here, Sprouse or whatever your name is—"

"Better hear me out," broke in Sprouse calmly. "I could drill a hole through you so quickly you'd never know what did it," he went on. His hand was in his coat pocket, and a quick glance revealed to Barnes a singularly impressive angle in the cloth, the point of which seemed to be directed squarely at his chest. "But I'm not going to do it. I just want to set myself straight with you. In a word, I never got anywhere near the room in which the jewels were hidden. This is God's truth, Barnes. I wasn't the only one who was trying to get the baubles, my friend. It was a game in which only the best man could win."

"I know the truth now about Roon and Paul," said Barnes significantly.

"You do?" sneered Sprouse. "I'll bet you a thousand to one you do not. The girl was led to believe that they were a couple of crooks and that they fixed me in that tavern down there. Isn't that what she told you? Well, that story was cooked up for her special benefit. Roon was the Baron Hedlund. Hedlund came up here a week or so ago to keep a lookout for his wife. The baroness is supposed to be deeply enamored of Prince Ugo. He found letters which seemed to indicate that she was planning to join the prince up here. When he heard of the arrival of a lady at Green Fancy the other afternoon, he got busy. I admit that I am the gentleman who telephoned the warning up to the prince. They tried to head the baron and his man off at the cross-roads, but he beat them to it. If there was to be a fight, they didn't want it to happen anywhere near the house. I believe Ugo is the one who got the baron—or Roon, as you know him. Now, that is the true story of the little affair.

"See Here, Sprouse, or Whatever Your Name Is—"

"To go back to my own troubles. When I got out into the hall night before last, after leaving her room, I heard voices whispering in Prince Ugo's room. I beat it up the stairway into the attic. Nothing happened, so I sneaked down to have a peep around. The door to Ugo's room was open, but there was no light on the inside. He came to the door and looked up and down the hall. Then some one else came out and started to sneak away. I leave you to guess the sex.

"Nicholas' butted in at this unfortunate juncture. He made the mistake of his life. Ugo jumped back into his room. In less than a second he was out again. He landed squarely on Nicholas' back as the fellow turned to escape. I saw the steel flash. Poor old Nick went down in a heap, letting out a horrible yell. Ugo dragged him into the room and dashed back into his own. A moment later he came out again, yelling for help. There was only one thing left for me to do and that was to get out on the roof if possible, and wait for things to quiet down. I got out through a trap door and stayed there for an hour or so.

"Well, to shorten the story, I finally took a chance and slid down to the eaves where I managed to find the limb of a tree big enough to support me—just as if the Lord had ordered it put there for my special benefit. I was soon on the ground, and that meant safety for me. I had heard Ugo tell the others that Nicholas said the man who stabbed him was yours truly. Can you beat it?

"And now comes the maddening part of the whole business. He said that the crown jewels were gone! The thief was running downstairs when he staggered to the door. If we are to find the crown jewels, my friend, we will first have to find Prince Ugo. He has them."

"I don't believe a word of this yarn," said Barnes flatly. "You have the jewels and—"

"Look here, Mr. Barnes, I'm not going to double-cross you again. That's all over. I want to get that scurvy dog who knifed poor old Nick. If you can give me a lead, I'll try to run Prince Ugo down. And if I do, we'll get the jewels."

"We? You amuse me, Sprouse."

"Well, I can't do any more than give my promise, my solemn oath, or something like that. I can't give a bond, you know. I swear to you that if I lay hands on that stuff, I will deliver it to you. Might just as well trust me as Ugo."

"Get in the car," said Barnes suddenly. He had decided to take a chance with the resourceful, indefatigable rascal.

Barnes told him that he knew of Prince Ugo's fight. Sprouse looked thoughtful for a long time.

"So O'Dowd knows that I really was after the swag, eh? He believes I got it?"

"I suppose so."

"The only one who thinks I'm absolutely innocent is Ugo, of course—and Mrs. Van Dyke. That's good," Sprouse smirked his lips. "I've got a pretty fair idea where I can find Mr. Loeb. It will take a little time—a couple of days, perhaps—but sooner or later he'll turn up in close proximity to the beautiful baroness."

"EVERYTHING WRONG"

So It Seemed To This Lady, Until Cardui Relieved Her Suffering.

Wyandotte, Mich.—"About a year and a half ago," writes Mrs. Florence Rogers, now of this place, formerly of Florida, "I had got in very bad health. Everything was wrong. I couldn't eat anything that didn't make me suffer...My limbs also gave me great pain and the pains in the limbs extending down to the knees. I too had awful pains in the back and was very thin and run-down in health...was terribly nervous. Everything would startle me...

An acquaintance told me of the great benefit she had received from Cardui...I was so bad off I couldn't do my work. The little daughter had to take charge of the work, and I could hardly walk...

I began using Cardui, and in about a week I felt much improved...I got better right along, after taking the Cardui...In about 2 weeks after taking the Cardui, I was able to do all my work except the washing...In a month more, I could do all my work, and the washing too."

Ladies! Take Cardui, the woman's tonic, for your troubles. It has helped thousands of other women in the past 40 years. Why not you? Your druggist sells Cardui.

Swiss Chard.

Swiss chard is closely related to common garden beets, but is grown exclusively for its leaf stems, which are used as greens. It is one of the garden vegetables that have come into favor in recent years, and deserves much more attention from home gardeners. Perhaps no garden crop used for greens will give so large a return on a small area or continue to produce through so great a period of time.

Plant the seeds the same as common garden beets and thin the plants to six inches in the row. The thinnings may be used for early greens. As the season advances the outer leaves can be pulled from the remaining plants and used, while the plants go on producing greens. The variety known as Lucullus is most commonly grown.—United States Department of Agriculture.

FIFTH REQUEST IN FILED BY GERMANY

many over the peace terms, surface indications are misleading and as soon as the people recover from the initial shock over what they regard as the severity of the treaty, they will force the government to accept the terms or give way to a ministry that will.

The Germans were stunned by the first announcement of the terms. The newspapers had not prepared the public for the allied measures, preferring to publish braggadocioal articles, threatening this and that unless the terms were easy. Thus the public was awakened suddenly.

"From a certain window I saw farmers working busily in the fields. I believe this typifies the situation in Germany—that is, the people who constitute the backbone of the country have been led far by the agitators, who have merely been trying to work up an agitation that would frighten the allies into changing the terms."

Exchange of messages between Berlin and Versailles continues and it was understood today that Foreign Minister Brockdorff-Rantau was prepared to leave soon for Germany to present personally his official report to his government. Herr Giesberth and Herr Landeberg, members of the German delegation, already have arrived in Berlin on a special mission.

Arthur Henderson, British labor leader, who intended to go to London today is remaining in Paris at the request of Premier Lloyd George to aid in preparing the answer to the German note concerning labor regulations.

Born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cochran, East Fourth street, a daughter.

BOY ESCAPES INJURY WHEN TEAM RUNS AWAY

Harold Newkirk, Hamilton Township, Stays With Wagon Until It Crashes Into Pole.

That Harold Newkirk, fifteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Newkirk, Hamilton township, has no desire to evade danger when he thinks he can avert a disaster, was demonstrated about 1 o'clock this afternoon when he stayed with a runaway horse and mule team hitched to a farm wagon until it crashed into a telephone pole on Indianapolis avenue. Young Newkirk had driven to town with his brother and was alone with the team at the corner of Second and Chestnut streets when the team took fright from an approaching interurban car.

The wagon was loaded with sacks of feed and when the team started the lad braced himself against the sacks and pulled hard to get the frightened animals under control. The wagon was whirled around the corner so rapidly that some of the sacks were thrown off. The team went east on Second street, and turned south on the avenue, taking across the Pennsylvania railroad tracks. The team had not run far until the tongue of the wagon smashed into a telephone pole. The tongue of the wagon was broken and a rear wheel was smashed. The horse was thrown to the ground but was not hurt. The mule was slightly hurt and limped when led away.

Bystanders who saw the wagon crash into the pole thought that the boy had been severely hurt as he was buried beneath the sacks. However, he escaped without a scratch.

Advancement in India.

The great success with which the introduction of electric power from the generating station on the Ghats is being developed in Bombay is revealed by the report of the Tata Hydro-Electric Power Supply company. The energy now being supplied to motors in Bombay amounts to 48,000-horsepower. Thirty-six mills are receiving power, and only the difficulties arising from the war prevent development being more rapid.

Alive With Rabbits.

As an illustration of the rabbit pest in certain portions of New Zealand, and especially in the drier sections of the South island, it is stated that on an estate recently taken over by the New Zealand government, comprising 12,446 acres of freehold and a pastoral run of 19,250, there were killed or captured about 120,000 rabbits in order to clear up the property so as to make it suitable for the returned soldiers.
